

Juego: ¿Tienes hambre?

As the newest employee of Superior Commercial Designs, you have been given a list of foods for a restaurant that will be opening next week. In order to be ready for the grand opening, their menu must go to press within the next two days, and this means that if your presentation to them is attractive and correct, you will probably get the bid for the job—and your first commission!

The restaurant owner has given you only a list of the dishes they will serve and the basic categories. As you categorize each item, be sure to list it only once. Decorate your menu and don't forget to name the restaurant. Burgers and other main dishes go under "especialidades."
